JAZZ MUSIC

In this presentation, you will learn about a variety of areas in Jazz Music. Enjoy!

WHERE, WHEN AND HOW DID JAZZ MUSIC BEGIN?

In 1895, Jazz music began, but it was not until around the 1920s, when the jazz artists of which we still remember until this day, began their big careers. It all began in the USA, when groups and bands came up with a new style of music and it was first played in places, such as bars, as you know when one person does something truly astonishing everyone wants to join in, so more and more musicians began to play jazz, there were many different types of jazz and people playing/ singing it. For example, some played, the saxophone, the trumpet, the trombone, whilst others sang scat, scat is a type of singing, of which I will explain shortly.

How did Jazz Help to Ease Racial Tensions?

Interestingly, jazz was first created by black people, everyone loved it and after a period of time people of a white skin colour joined in, this eased racial tension because they didn't see one another as black and white, they saw each other as musicians and amazing ones at that. Together everyone played in harmony, creating music that makes people feel a variety of emotions, beaming with joy, frightened, loved, depressed, but all in all it made them feel wonderful, they showed everyone that it does not matter what colour your skin, your race or your religion is, as long as you work together you can do extraordinary things.

All About Francis Albert Sinatra

Career and Why He Became the Man he was:

Although Frank Sinatra was a singer, he was also an actor, he played in many movies, I would say around 51, but this is not certain, so Francis was both a singer and an actor, but his heart led him to singing. It all began when the the young, teenaged Sinatra watched Bing Crosby perform in the mid-1930s, Francis had found his passion and knew what he wanted to do, he was already a member of the glee club at his high school and eventually began to sing at local nightclubs. Frank made his first recordings with bandleader, Harry James, however in 1940, Tommy Dorsey invited Francis into his band, he was content there and after two years of chart-topping success with Tommy, Sinatra decided it was time to leave and take the reins.

Innocent or Guilty, That is the Question:

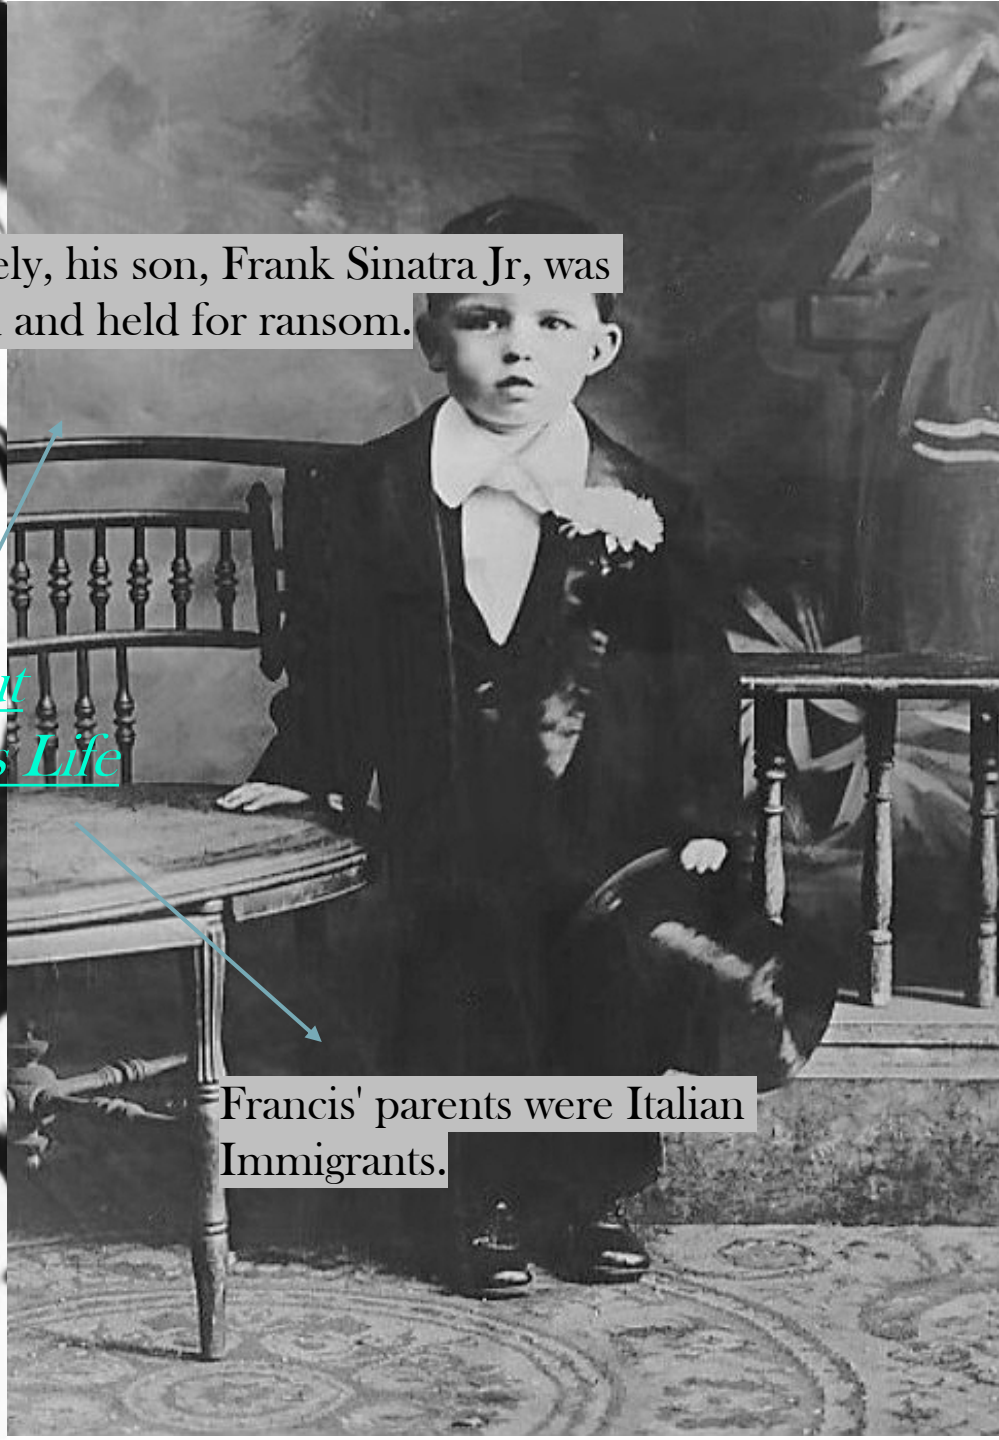

Would you ever think, even for a second, that Francis Albert Sinatra could be a criminal? I know I wouldn't, yet then I would be partially wrong, Sinatra, although he denied it, has it written in his FBI file, that he had interacted with the mob, infact he connected to famous Mafia figures and was even close friends with, Sam Giancana, Chicago mob boss.

Mafia: An organised international body of criminals, operating in Sicily and now especially in Italy and the US and having a complex and ruthless behavioural code.

Mob: The Mafia or a similar criminal organisation.

Sinatra had a punctured eardrum, keeping him out of World War II.

Unfortunately, his son, Frank Sinatra Jr, was kidnapped and held for ransom.

*A Few Random Facts About
Francis Albert Sinatra and his Life*

During the Great Depression, he dressed very well, although he was a child, as you can see in the picture on the right.

Francis' parents were Italian Immigrants.

What 1920s Event Helped to Increase the Popularity of Jazz Music?

During the 1920s, something called the Prohibition Era, fell into place, this was a period in time, when the whole of the United States were banned on the production, importation, transportation and sale of alcoholic drinks from the 1920s to 1933, jazz music was a positive point, of which made everyone joyful and make their way through these times.
